Apprenticeship with German Photographers Margit/Juergen Kuhlmei

what I call home .

salt air, open skies, tall trees, our house on the hill, on board our 35' sloop ...

maine for life

inspiration .

Richard Diebenkorn, Milton Avery, Wil Barnet, Ashley Bryan, Imogen

Cunningham,

leafless trees, northwest wind, crows calling down, rolling white fields, clouds racing across mountain peaks, my honest kids and upbeat tireless husband

studio .

I have a small studio in the ell of our "big house, little house, back house, barn" where you are welcome to stop by to see my work.

The Greater Portland Regional 50 Exhibit/Danforth Gallery review excerpt: ". . .
Juror Alison Ferris admits that many of the submissions were from the traditional, rather than conceptual, mode. Indeed, several of the participants' works possess that certain mass appeal. However, "works like Laurie Hadlock's 'Snow Field,' ... are vaguely familiar motifs, but with surprisingly unique and unfamiliar styles and approaches. . ." Alison Ferris, former curator, Bowdoin College.
